24 Hours of Reality:
The Cost of Carbon

The world's largest conversation on carbon pollution with millions taking part worldwide

Live broadcast of 'The Australian Hour' on large screen with interviews and a panel discussion.

The presentation will focus on the current climate crisis and its impact on human health, including extreme heat, the spread of infectious disease, food and water-borne illnesses, worsening air pollution and extreme weather.

You'll hear a special address from the Climate Reality Project founder Al Gore discussing the way forward and a global call to action.
